1. If the number of claims remaining after amendment is less than the number of claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of claims remaining after amendment. If the number of claims remaining after amendment is greater than or equal to the number of claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of claims previously paid for.

2. If the highest number of claims previously paid for is less than 20, the fee is based on the number of claims previously paid for. If the highest number of claims previously paid for is 20 or more, the fee is based on the number of claims previously paid for plus the appropriate fee for the number of claims previously paid for.

3. If the number of independent claims remaining after amendment is less than the number of independent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of independent claims remaining after amendment. If the number of independent claims remaining after amendment is greater than or equal to the number of independent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of independent claims previously paid for.

4. If the number of multiple dependent claims remaining after amendment is less than the number of multiple dependent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of multiple dependent claims remaining after amendment. If the number of multiple dependent claims remaining after amendment is greater than or equal to the number of multiple dependent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of multiple dependent claims previously paid for.

5. If the number of claims remaining after amendment is less than the number of claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of claims remaining after amendment. If the number of claims remaining after amendment is greater than or equal to the number of claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of claims previously paid for.

6. If the number of independent claims remaining after amendment is less than the number of independent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of independent claims remaining after amendment. If the number of independent claims remaining after amendment is greater than or equal to the number of independent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of independent claims previously paid for.

7. If the number of multiple dependent claims remaining after amendment is less than the number of multiple dependent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of multiple dependent claims remaining after amendment. If the number of multiple dependent claims remaining after amendment is greater than or equal to the number of multiple dependent claims previously paid for, the fee is based on the number of multiple dependent claims previously paid for.
